Subject:	Allow changing of backup schedule from panel
Description:	It would be useful to be able to adjust the backup schedule from the panel, instead of needing to raise a support ticket. Given the panel has space reporting capabilities, it could all be managed from one place.

Yes, though this is quite tricky. There's several hosts on which configuration needs to be changed, and then all the customer's existing backup directories need to be moved about.

Also not all backup schedules are available on all backup servers, so that potentially would need all the data to be moved to a different server.
